

HIRING ANNOUNCEMENT
UNIVERSITY OF DETROIT MERCY SCHOOL OF LAW

Full-Time Visiting Faculty Position for 2020-21
Property Law

University of Detroit Mercy School of Law is seeking a full-time visitor to teach Property during the 2020-21 academic year. We are also interested in candidates who, in addition to Property, have teaching interests in Torts, Estates & Trusts, Copyright Law, and/or Entertainment Law. The duration of the visitorship is open to negotiation.

Candidates should have a Juris Doctor degree, strong academic background, and experience as a practicing lawyer. We are pleased to accept applications from experienced law teachers, as well as those interested in beginning a career in legal academia. A record of scholarly publication is not required for this visitorship, but we welcome candidates who have a publication record or a demonstrated interest in building one. The visitor will be eligible for research support and funding, as well as teaching assistance, for the duration of the visitorship.

Candidates should send a current CV or resume, along with a cover letter explaining their interest and qualifications, to Professor J. Richard Broughton, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, at broughjr@udmercy.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately.

About Our Program of Legal Education

Detroit Mercy Law offers a unique curriculum that complements traditional theory- and doctrine-based course work with intensive practical learning. Students must complete at least one clinic, one upper-level writing course, one global perspectives course, and one course within our Law Firm Program, an innovative simulated law-firm practicum. Detroit Mercy Law also offers a Dual J.D. program with the University of Windsor in Canada, in which students earn both an American and a Canadian law degree in three years while gaining a comprehensive understanding of two distinct legal systems. Interested Dual J.D. students are fully integrated into upper-level U.S. courses. The program's first-year U.S. Property Law module could form a component of the teaching package if desired.

Detroit Mercy Law is located one block from the riverfront in Downtown Detroit, within walking distance of federal, state, and municipal courts, the region's largest law firms, and major corporations such as General Motors, Quicken Loans, and Comerica Bank. The School of Law is also uniquely situated two blocks from the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel, an international border crossing linking Detroit with Windsor and Canada.

Detroit offers a dynamic variety of culinary, cultural, entertainment, and sporting attractions. See https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DO4J\_PC1b5M and learn more at <https://www.nytimes.com/2017/11/20/travel/detroit-michigan-downtown.html>.

Michigan's largest, most comprehensive private university, University of Detroit Mercy is an independent Catholic institution of higher education sponsored by the Religious Sisters of Mercy
